

SUFFRAGE VALENTINES ON THE DESKS WHEN
CONGRESSMEN GOT TO WORK

Valentine sent by congressional union to Rep. Henry of Texas, chairman of the house rules committee, which holds the fate of the Anthony amendment.

Washington, Feb. 14.—St. Valentine's days is being used by the Congressional Union woman suffragists to further the "cause."

When congress got to its various offices this morning, it found lovely valentines, especially prepared and sent from all over the country by members of the congressional union—each urging support for the Susan

B. Anthony amendment.

There were broad smiles on the faces of committee clerks and stenographers as they watched the members look over the mail. Cupid was on the job in great style—emphasized by the fact that this is leap year—and original rhymes and drawings conveyed the fact to the members that oceans of love were available
